Khor Valarek has led his evil band to Ulthuan in search of slaves but news has reached him that a much bigger target is in the area – the Phoenix King himself is journeying from Lothern to the Court of the Everqueen in Avelorn, with only a small escort to protect him! After forced marching through the night, the Dark Elves are ready to sweep aside the Seaguard and Phoenix Guard, who are attempting to delay the Naggarythe long enough for the King to escape. Both sides, know that if the High Elf infantry can just hold off their evil kindred for a few hours, reinforcements may arrive in time to save them!

The High Elf player deploys first. The regiment of Silver Helms are not available at the start of the battle as they are thundering towards the battlefield and will appear as reinforcements (as explained in the army lists). After the Dark Elf player has deployed his full force, the battle begins. The Dark Elves get the first turn.

The battle begins at dawn and lasts for five turns. If, by the end of the battle, any Dark Elf regiment has left the table by their opponent's table edge, then the result is a Dark Elf victory – the Phoenix King will find he must run or die! Any other outcome is a High Elf victory and Khor Valarek must face the wrath of Malekith when his failure becomes known...
